

Shirts make loud noise for vital cash

A DIN of a different kind emanated from Blackburn's Taralye centre for deaf children earlier this month.

Loud Shirt Day was celebrated on May 15 and is the biggest fundraising event at the centre, which has helped Victorian deaf children for 41 years.

Children and Early Childhood Development Minister Maxine Morand and Mitcham state Labor MP Tony Robinson toured the centre on the day.

Taralye Development Manager

Kevin Gray said the ministers looked at the impact of newborn hearing screening, early intervention and the challenges of providing service to rural regions.

Mr Gray said they also discussed the cost of service delivery and fundraising requirements.
